

Calgary Farmers' Market

November 12, 2009

Hello Friends of the Calgary Farmers' Market,

It's an Exciting Time to Join Us Here at the Market!

For those of you who haven't heard, November is Book Month at the Calgary Farmers' Market and we're bringing in lots of great authors for you to meet and greet and read. We encourage our customers to be educated and aware and we are taking this opportunity to present some options.

This weekend, we will be welcoming Lori Callaghan, author of the new children's book "The Adventures of Gogglz: Quest One - A Whale of a Tale". This book is the first in a series of books that encourage imaginative play for children. Gogglz is a cute little character that plays with cardboard boxes and simple things (how we all used to play for hours in our backyards), and when he puts on his imagination goggles, he is magically in the scene. Lori will be selling her books in the children's area of the market and will have a special Christmas bargain for CFM shoppers. For a sneak peek, check out www.annbeepress.com.

During the weekend of November 20-22, the market will be welcoming back local food critic John Gilchrist and his latest edition of his book My Favourite Restaurants. The book hones Gilchrist's discerning palate on a variety of restaurants in Calgary and the surrounding areas. A number of Calgary Farmers' Market vendors are profiled in this book.

And last, but not least, local artist and food writer Pierre Lamielle will be here the weekend of November 27-29 promoting his new cookbook Kitchen Scraps. The book is described as a humorous illustrated cookbook and takes advantage of Lamielle's skill as both a talented artist and a skilled chef. Lamielle will be showing customers how it's done with cooking demonstrations at 11am each day that he is here. Stop by and watch him cook and buy a book, and if you ask him nicely he may even draw you a picture of your very own.

One last thing, if you are part of a choir or know someone who is part of a choir that would be interested in carolling at the Calgary Farmers' Market during the month of December, please contact Veronica Lawrence at veronica@calgaryfarmersmarket.ca.
